

Law Firm replaces a legacy Case management system with the experts at TAB

TAB helped a law firm transition from a legacy document tracking system to FusionRMS which manages their case files far more effectively.

FusionRMS provided the firm a complete records management solution that is user friendly and easily accessible.

FusionRMS manages firms case records through one single application that significantly reduces user clicks and creates a simple searching index of all the existing case files.

TAB's professional services team worked with the firm to import the existing legacy database as well as design and implement a new barcode tracking system for locating and tracking their critical records.

The transition to FusionRMS also allowed the firm to access their records remotely via a web browser. TAB's team provided a series of administrative and core user training sessions to ensure users have a complete understanding of the new system.
